

BadAttitude10

4 hours ago

I actually paid for Line-X one time but never installed it too late they know my every move and I am still alive I made an $18 purchase Cruise CIA Amazon one time got myself a real fancy 500gb Samsung SSD drive thank you!

<https://www.bitchute.com/video/LDURpvQei9qU/>

Reply · 👍 1 · Edit · Flag

Mechatroniac

4 days ago

I got rid of Windows because my harddrive was constantly working even if I was not doing anything.

Reply · 👍 2 · Edit · Flag

You

4 days ago

I later ended up chmoding my kernel and scrambling the shadow password files with (date | base64)*5 so that way if any malware were to make changes to the Linux System it would have a harder time.

I disabled su/sudo/doas/gksudo/sudoedit/passwd all with chmod -R 000 and updated my software and system beforehand, set up my firewall to In Rej Pub, closed all my ports, disabled ping response.

This book shows my Security Audit, I know some rootkits have their own environment, however this Security Audit for Linux has kept my system totally clean of all crapware from websites:

<https://archive.org/details/securing-unix-and-linux-book> [show less]

Reply · 👍 1 · Edit · Flag